

We're Here for You During the COVID-19 Coronavirus Outbreak

At HOGAN LAW, P.C., our clients, employees, and their families are the center of everything we do as a firm. In response to the COVID-19 virus, we want to reassure you we are taking proactive steps to maintain the health and well-being of our clients, employees, and others we connect with while continuing to offer the best legal services available.

We have put forth technical resources for a seamless transition to service your legal needs without interruption. Our virtual systems are active and effective, including all of our remote capabilities. We continue to prioritize service to our clients, while also emphasizing the health, safety, and well-being of our clients, attorneys, staff, and the community at large.

Digital Connection

Whether you are a current or prospective HOGAN LAW, PC. client, we are available to connect with you to navigate your legal needs. We are set up to work remotely, with email, phone, and video conferencing capabilities. In-person meetings at our office location will be postponed through the end of April, 2020 as a precautionary measure. We will continue to monitor and re-evaluate the situation.

Being Prepared

As our community responds to COVID-19, we anticipate continued changes with court policies and adjustments from other businesses, and we are prepared to mitigate delays in your legal matters as the Courts deem necessary. We are working with court reporting services and other firm vendors to arrange for remote meetings, depositions, and mediations, when appropriate and courtroom appearances.

We recognize that it may be frustrating to have certain matters delayed; however, we will work with you to ensure we are continuing to advance your case, and we are prepared for a quick resolution once matters are able to get back on the court's dockets.

Serving Your Legal Needs

Finally, attorney Cristopher A. Hogan and team wants you to know that we are here for you for any legal services or advice you might need during this time.
